Robert E. Landweer & Co. Inc - Washington

Robert E. Landweer & Co., Inc. Relco, Inc.

Since 1936

Robert E. Landweer & Co., Inc. is one of the Pacific Northwest's oldest and most experienced customhouse brokerage firms. Established and licensed in Seattle, Washington in 1936 by Robert E. Landweer himself, the company flourished during the Alaska immigration of the 1930's and 1940's. It gradually expanded its services to include all functions required of a Customs Broker and International Freight Forwarder including air and ocean freight, 3PL logistics, and cargo insurance.

In 1952 Robert E. Landweer Co., Inc. was incorporated. Since then, they have been privileged to participate in the dynamic growth and expansion of the Puget Sound region, one of the nation's most important centers of international trade and commerce. Today companies both large and small, look to Robert E. Landweer & Co., Inc. to provide fast, efficient import and export services. Their experienced professionals keep abreast of changes in laws and regulations to ensure the most reliable service to all of our customers.

They have made it their business to provide personalized service with the same kind of knowledge, experience and enthusiasm that has contributed so much to their past and present success.

Truckload Shippers Prep for 2019 Price Hikes

Shippers came to the JOC Inland Distribution Conference on Oct. 22-24 in Oak Brook, Illinois, to connect with carriers and third-party logistics providers, discuss problems, and find out where the market is headed. But if they came hoping to hear that a buyer's market in US transportation is around the corner, they were sorely disappointed. To read The JOC's full article, click here!

Cost of Low-Sulfur Rule to Shippers Slowly Comes Into View

The failed late-October attempt by some members of the International Maritime Organization to delay some provisions of the rule taking effect Jan. 1, 2020 underscores shippers' drive to figure out just how much more they'll be paying for ocean shipping. U.K. Releases New Budget Plans. BIFA Reacts With Concern

The United Kingdom made another baby step forward in its preparations for Brexit yesterday, as British Finance Minister Philip Hammond delivered what is said to be the U.K.'s final budget before its membership with the European Union is severed next spring. Reaction from British International Forwarders Association (BIFA), however, was mixed. To read Air Cargo World's full article, click here!

How To Avoid A Logistical Nightmare on Black Friday and Beyond

As if the festive season wasn't busy enough for logistics companies thanks to the annual rush to buy gifts online, the rise of Black Friday in late November has piled on even more pressure. To read Forwarder Magazine's full article, click here!
